

SKL-1 HISTORIC LIGHTING FIXTURE WITH FORGED DECORATIONS

SKL-1 TYPE

Basic Information

This lighting fixture is designed for decorative illumination of urban historic precincts, parks, gardens and pedestrian zones.

The lighting fixtures of this type can be mounted on historic poles, or wall-fixed by means of an arm.

The lighting fixture itself is IP65-protected, which significantly improves the light and technical properties of the fixture, reduces dirtiness in the inner space and thus the total maintenance cost.

Technical Description

In its basic model, the fixture is furnished with additional devices for the 70 W high-pressure sodium discharge lamp. As per the customer's wish, bulbs or compact fluorescent tubes may be used as the luminous source.

The fixture cover shaped as a ball with 400 mm diameter is made of polycarbonate.

This ball cover is supplied either with or without copper wire braiding – refer to the figure.

The very light fixture is made of copper sheet and furnished with forged decorative leaves.

The historic pole is made of cast iron and supplied in the lengths of 1,400 mm or 3,105 mm.

The arm for fixing the fixture to the wall is also made of cast iron and supplied in the lengths of 600 mm or 900 mm.

So-called forger's black is used for finishing. Other ways of finishing are available according to the customer's wish.
